Rebels Attacked Town, Doing No Serious Harm.

REBELS HELD A CELEBRATION.

Arrangements Made For a British Ship to Carry Supplies to Spanish Prisoners. Operations of Wheatou-Brave Work by Lieutenant Hawkins.

Manila, Nov. 11.-Another attack has been made by the insurgents on Balinag, the rebels firing into the town fer about four hours, but doing no damage. The insurgents held a celebration at Tarlac on Oct. 29 in honor of the anti-imperialists. The demonstration included a procession, religious services and speeches by Aguinaldo and other officials.

The Independencia, in an editorial engonizing Mr. W. J. Bryan, says: "Mr. Bryan should be pictured in Filipino history with equal glory with Dr. Rizal, who, with Bryan and Aguinaldo, are the glorious trinity of our political re-

General Otis and the Spanish and Brush consuls made arrangements in accordance with which the British cruiser Peacock is to take 20,000 rations and clothing to the Spanish prisoners in the Albay and Camarines provinces.

General Young, with his cavalry, took San Jose on Wednesday. A small insurgent force stationed there rereated. The troops were ferried across he river to Cabanatuan on a raft. During the passage an accident occurred by which a private of the Twenty-second regiment was drowned.

The landing of the American troops at San Fabian Tuesday was the most spectacular affair of the kind since eneral Shatter's disembargation at Daiquiri. The co-operation of the troops and the navy was complete. The gunboats maintained a terrific bombardment for an hour, while the troops rushed waist-deep through the surf, under a heavy but badly directed rifle fire from the insurgent trenches, and charged right and left, pouring volley after volley at the fleeing rebels. Forty Filipinos were captured, mostly noncommissioned officers. Several insurgent dead and five wounded were found in a building which had suffered conell fortified.

Captain Buck, with Pierce's and Patton's companies, pursued the insurgents on the left into the bamboo thicket. On the right was a frail foot bridge across the river, leading to the town. General Wheaton, personally commanding, ordered a charge across the bridge and Captain Howland of his staff led Coleman's and Elliott's companies of the Thirteenth and Shields' company of the Twenty-third, who behaved splendidly under their first fire, into the town, which was found to be nearly deserted, except by the aged and some Spaniards, who had hidden in the buffalo wallows and who came shouting delightedly toward the Americans.

The troops camped in the rain during the night, and in the morning General Wheaton established his headquarters in a church, quartered his men in the houses and sent the captured Filipinos beyond the outposts, with orders not to

Wednesday was devoted to reconnaissances. Major Logan went northward to Santo Tomas and burned the Filipino barracks. Captain Buck's Thirteenth went to San Jacinto and disposed of small bands. Marsh's Twenty-third went toward Magdalen, on the Dagu-pan road, and had several sharp fights with small parties. They killed eight men, brought in 20 prisoners and had five men wounded. The Santo Tomas road seems to be the only possible means of retreat for a large body north of Tarlac, and General Wheaton commands it. The insurgents of this section are going to reinforce Tarlac. The battleship Oregon has arrived here from Hongkong. Captain Chenoweth and Lieutenants Davis, Van Horne and Bradford, with two companies of the Seventeenth regiment, reconnoitering northeast of Mabalacal, attacked and routed a battalion of insurgents, killing 29 of them. Three Americans were wounded.

General Wheaton reported by the Bennington that when the landing was made at San Fabian the insurgents encountered were 300 recruits, who were on their way to Dagupan, where they expected the expedition to land. They retreated to the mountains. Twentyeight Spanish were rescued.

It has been raining hard throughout the week, handicapping Generals Lawton and MacArthur. The transportation is the chief difficulty. In the advance General Lawton depended upon the river to get his supplies. The San Isidro river is fed by mountain streams, and is alternately too shallow for navigation or too swift.

Two and three launches were necessary to pull the casco moving the supplies from San Isidro, and the mule trains moving supplies from San Isidro over the muddy roads, made only two or three miles a day. The troops were on short rations much of the time. The only provisions the country yields are rice, a few chickens and buffalo. The officers carry a supply of cash to pay the natives liberally for all they take.

The highlands are cool and the health of the troops is good.

General Young has captured another large share of insurgent ammunition and munitions of war which they were obliged to leave in their hurried retreat.

General MacArthur is bringing supplies from Angeles by the use of mule and cariboo teams

Reconnaissances along the front have discovered the insurgents strongly entrenceed before Bamban, with several cannon and a rapidfire gun, but they are short of ammunition.

Major Bell has been engaged in another daring exploit. While scouting with five officers and two men of the Thirty-sixth infantry and Lieutenant Hawkins and ten men of the Fourth cavalry he crept behind a trench containing 100 Filipinos, rode them down and killed and wounded 20 men and captured six. He also brought back 30 Mausers.

Certainly no artitlery can reach Durbin before Nov. 14, and, without additional guns, an advance from Estcourt would be impossible. No doubt, as Lord Salisbury said in a recent speech, England will "muddle through it," and yet another illustration of muddling has become apparent in the fact that gunnery instructors have only just arrived at Woolwich arsenal for instructions in siege-train duties. The statement from Ladysmith that the British guns do not reply to the Boer artillery because the concrete beds for the guns have not yet hardened is interpreted in some quarters to mean simply that the British are husbanding their ammunition, as the Boer fire is only a trick to get the British to waste shells.

"Cape Town, Thursday evening, Nov. 9.—Have received by pigeon post from General White today the following:

"The bombardment at long range by heavy guns continues daily. A few casualties are occurring, but no serious harm is being done.

"The Boers sent in today a number of refugees from the Transvaal under a flag of truth. A flag of truce from Ladysmith met them outside the pickets. When the party separated the Boer guns fired on it before it reached our pickets.

Major Gale, of the Royal engineers was wounded today while sending a message.

"The entrenchments are daily growing strong and the supply of provisions is ample."

The war office issued the following: "From Buller, Cape Town, 12:40 p. m., by message from Buluwayo dated Nov. 3.—A small convoy and escort under Spreckley of Phmer's force was attacked by Boers Nov. 2. Six men miss-

The war office also issued the following: "A report having appeared in the South African papers that our artillery fired on the Geneva flag General Buller telegraphs the following account of the incident given The Standard and Diggers News by the Rev. Mr. Martens, a Dutch clergyman with the Boers: 'Directly after the first cannon shot the English thought our men were at the railway station and fired there. They were not, but one of the snots went through an ambulance. As soon as they found their mistake they ceased firing. "The ambulance, in accordance with the usages, should have been three miles from the field of battle, so the ambulance cannot claim the English broke the usages of civilized warfare, but I do not think the English would have fired on them had they known this. It was unintentional."

The statement from Ladysmith that the British guns do not reply to the Boer artiliery because the concrete beds for the guns have not yet hardened is interpreted in some quarters to mean simply that the British are husbanding their ammunition, as the Boer fire is only a trick to get the British to waste shells.

Among the few items that have arrived from the Cape is one saying that the Boers are planting more guns in the hills surrounding Ladysmith. All the correspondents in the beleaguered town are safe and anxious to reopen communication.

A gentleman who visited Nicholson's Nek after the engagement counted 25 in killed and 70 wounded.

The latest advices from Kimberley, dated Nov. 2, say that all was well there then. An explosion had been heard and the supposition was that the Boers had blown up the railway culvert south of Dronfield.

LONDON, Nov. 11.-The British war office received from General Buller the following dispatch:

"The Boers sent in today a number of refugees from the Transvaal under a flag of truth. A flag of truce from Ladysmith met them outside the pickets. When the party separated the Boer guns fired on it before it reached our pickets.

The war office also issued the following: "A report having appeared in the South African papers that our artillery fired on the Geneva flag General Buller

TWO CENTS

Rebels Attacked Town, Doing No Serious Harm.

REBELS HELD A CELEBRATION.

Arrangements Made For a British Ship to Carry Supplies to Spanish Prisoners. Operations of Wheatou-Brave Work by Lieutenant Hawkins.

Manila, Nov. 11.-Another attack has been made by the insurgents on Balinag, the rebels firing into the town for about four hours, but doing no damage. The insurgents held a celebration at Tarlac on Oct. 29 in honor of the anti-imperialists. The demonstration included a procession, religious services and speeches by Aguinaldo and other officials.

The Independencia, in an editorial eugonizing Mr. W. J. Bryan, says: "Mr. Bryan should be pictured in Filipino history with equal glory with Dr. Rizal, who, with Bryan and Aguinaldo, are the glorious trinity of our political re-

General Otis and the Spanish and British consuls made arrangements in accordance with which the British cruiser Peacock is to take 20,000 rations and clothing to the Spanish prisoners in the Albay and Camarines provinces.

General Young, with his cavalry, took San Jose on Wednesday. A small insurgent force stationed there retreated. The troops were ferried across the river to Cabanatuan on a raft. During the passage an accident occurred by which a private of the Twenty-secand regiment was drowned.

The landing of the American troops at San Fabian Tuesday was the most spectacular affair of the kind since General Shatter's disembargation at Daiquiri. The co-operation of the troops and the navy was complete. The gunboats maintained a terrific bombardment for an hour, while the troops rushed waist-deep through the surf, under a heavy but badly directed rifle fire from the insurgent trenches, and petroleum product. charged right and left, pouring volley after volley at the fleeing rebels. Forty Filipinos were captured, mostly nontown was well fortified.

General Wheaton, personally commanding, ordered a charge across the bridge and man's and Elliott's companies of the Thirteenth and Shields' company of the Mr. Livingston. Twenty-third, who behaved splendidly under their first fire, into the town, which was found to be nearly deserted, except by the aged and some Spaniards, who had hidden in the buffalo wallows and who eame shouting delightedly toward the Americans.

The troops camped in the rain during the night, and in the morning General Wheaton established his headquarters in a church, quartered his men in the beyond the outposts, with orders not to return.

The inhabitents describe all the roads as, practically impassable, and say they believe Aguinaldo has secreted a yacht in the river Longapo, near Subig for use in his flight when he finds his capture is

Wednesday was devoted to reconnaissances. Major Logan went northward to Santo Tomas and burned the Filipino barracks. Captain Buck's Thirteenth went to San Jacinto and disposed of small bands. Marsh's Twenty-third went toward Magdalen, on the Dagumen, brought in 20 prisoners and had five men wounded. The Santo Tomas road seems to be the only possible means of retreat for a large body north of Tarlac, and General Wheaton commands it. The insurgents of this section are going to reinforce Tarlac. The battleship Oregon has arrived here from Hongkong. Captain Chenoweth and Lieutenants Davis, Van Horne and Bradford, with two companies of the Seventeenth regiment, reconnoitering northeast of Mabalacal, attacked and routed a battalion of insurgents, killing 29 of them. Three Americans were wounded.

General Wheaton reported by the Bennington that when the landing was made at San Fabian the insurgents encountered were 300 recruits, who were on their way to Dagupan, where they expected the expedition to land. They retreated to the mountains. Twentyeight Spanish were rescued.

It has been raining hard throughout the week, handicapping Generals Lawton and MacArthur. The transportation is the chief difficulty. In the advance General Lawton depended upon the river to get his supplies. The San ALLEGED BOGUS BALLOTS CAST. Isidro river is fed by mountain streams, and is alternately too shallow for navigation or too swift.

Two and three launches were necessary to pull the casco moving the supplies from San Isidro, and the mule trains moving supplies from San Isidro over the muddy roads, made only two or three miles a day. The troops were on short rations much of the time. The only provisions the country yields are rice, a few chickens and buffalo. The officers carry a supply of cash to pay the natives liberally for all they take.

The highlands are cool and the health of the troops is good.

General Young has captured another large share of insurgent ammunition and munitions of war which they were obliged to leave in their hurried retreat.

General MacArthur is bringing supplies from Angeles by the use of mule and cariboo teams

Reconnaissances along the front have discovered the insurgents strongly entrenceed before Bamban, with several cannon and a rapidfire gun, but they are short of ammunition.

Major Bell has been engaged in another daring exploit. While scouting with five officers and two men of the Thirty-sixth infantry and Lieutenant Hawkins and ten men of the Fourth cavalry he crept behind a trench containing 100 Filipinos, rode them down and killed and wounded 20 men and captured six. He also brought back 30

Five Men Arrested In Philadelphia.

Five of the Accused In the Employ of the National Government-The Trouble Said to Involve a Number of Prominent Politicians.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 11.-As the reofficers and making fraudulent returns. The defendants are John F. Sheehan, R. M. Drinkert, William Cook, Harry McCabe and George Kirkland. All but one were said to be in the government's to enter the conspiracy. He was principal witness and bail in his case was fixed at $1,000, the others being required to furnish $1,800.

The testimony involved several prominent Republican politicians in this city and a lieutenant of Capital polce at Washington.

The fraud was accomplished in the thirteenth division of the Seventh ward and the election papers of this division were produced in evidence. The returns showed a vote of 357 for Colonel James E. Barnett, the Republican candidate for state treasurer, and five for W. T. Creasy, the Democratic candidate.

Kirkland, who at the time of his arrest said his name was George Wright, described the trip from Washington to this city of the alleged repeaters on Monday night. He then related in detail all that happened from the time of their arrival until their arrest at the railroad station on election day

On Tuesday morning, he said, he and William Cook went to the house of Deputy Coroner Sam Salter, accompanied by Lieutenant Jos. G. Rodgers of the Capital police. Lieutenant Rodgers, Kirkland declared, was in charge of the party when it left Washington. At Salter's house they met the deputy coroner and John Silverman, one of the election inspectors. Continuing, the

"Salter handed us a number of ballots folded and sealed and told us they were to go in the box as soon as we got to the polling place. On our arrival there Silverman and Cook unlocked the boxes and we put the ballots in. There were about 200 I judge."

Kirkland then said that he acted as minority inspector under the name of Clarence McCabe, the regular inspector, and that Cook impersonated E. E. Rankin, the judge of election. During the afternoon, witness asserted, 15 additional votes were marked by Cook and Silverman and placed in the box. The last 24 voters were handed specimen ballots which witness thought were destroyed after the polis closed. He said 124 votes were actually cast and that the number returned was "330 or thereabouts.'

Kirkland said he acted in the matter at the instigation of R. M. Johnson, a newspaper reporter. He was paid $15 for his work at the polls by Lieutenant Rodgers he said.

William Hamilton, the judge of election, testified that he was unable to officiate owing to illness and to the fact that in order to do so he would have to resign his position as laborer in the post-

The clerk of the notel at which the Washington men stopped Monday night said the bill was paid by a prominent local Republican potitician.

R. M. Johnson, a newspaper reporter testified that he was in Washington last Sunday. He saw Kirkland there and on that day, and also on the train enroute to this city the following day.

Counsel for the prosecution announced that in view of the evidence he would ask for warrants for several others who had been implicated and that he would demand the extradition of Lieutenant Rodgers.

Buller May Not Get Started Before Christmas.

SIEGE TRAINS NOT YET READY.

Believed In Some Quarters the British Do Not Reply to the Boer Artillery, to Husband Their Ammunition - Boers Plant More Guns.

LONDON, Nov. 11 .- It is said that General Buller never expected to commence the campaign in South Africa before Christmas, and it now looks as though this will be the case. Certainly no artillery can reach Durbin before Nov. 14, and, without additional guns, an advance from Estcourt would be impossible. No doubt, as Lord Salisbury said in a recent speech, England will "muddle through it," and yet another illustration of muddling has become apparent in the fact that gunnery instructors have only just arrived at Woolwich arsenal for instructions in siege-train duties. Although hurried preparations are being made to prepare the siege trains, the fact that the men are at Devenport and the guns at Woolwich seems to show that the idea of the siege train was quite an afterthought.

The Morning Post says: "What will come of such muddling, if we ever come to fighting a foe able to turn to advantage? some radical reforms are still needed in our mobilization arrangements.

Many girls and women find it necessary to earn their own living in various kinds of employment. Their work is often so hard and confining that the health breaks down. Their delicate constitutions are unfitted for tiresome tasks. Weakness nearly always makes its appearance in the peculiarly delicate womanly organs. Constant standing on the feet, and coming and going at the beck of a superintendent or foreman, induces falling of the womb, leucorrhoea, headache and backache. ### KNOTTY LABOR QUESTION.

The Right of an Employer to Work With His Men.

A novel question was recently brought up before a labor union in this city, says the New York Tribune. which the aforesaid union has found exceedingly difficult to answer satisfactorily. The question was, "Does an employer have the right to don a workingman's garb and labor along with his employees?'

It appears that a contractor known as John Arlt, feeling the need of a little exercise, decided to show his employees how to lay brick on a row of buildings which he was erecting on the east side. Mr. Arlt was once a bricklayer himself, and he wanted to demonstrate to his men that he could give points to them in the art of bricklaying. The employees took it as a good joke, and they applauded his action. In fact, they were rather proud that they were working for a man who didn't think it beneath him to put on overalls and blouse and labor with them the same as any other journeyman.

Everything went well for a time. Mr. Arlt was not only getting plenty of exercise, but his good example of industry had such an effect on his men that the walls of the building went up like magic. Just then, however, the walking delegate appeared on the scene and demanded to see Mr. Arit's union card. The latter, who is a German, was much surprised at the request, and he told the delegate so.

"Don't I employ union men?" he inquired of the delegate. "Don't I pay them der union vages? You find no scabs mit my men, do you? Don't I der exercise get if I der vork vat I vant to do, do it? You vas off mit your base, don't it?"

The delegate insisted that it did not matter whether the contractor employed union men; he did not have a card himself, so consequently he could not be permitted to work with union men even if they were his own employees.

Finally it was resolved to lay the matter before Bricklayers' union, No. 11, and a meeting was held at which the subject was debated from all sides. Nothing could be found in the constitution of the union bearing in any way on the subject, and the meeting could reach no decision as to the proper course to pursue. The matter was still unsettled yesterday, and it bids fair to prove a lively question of debate among the labor unions for weeks to come. In the meantime Mr. Arlt continues to lay brick "the way his father did," much to his own satisfaction and the amuse-

THE LOCUST PEST.

Interesting Investigations by an Ag-

Every year since the invasion of certain western states, particularly Kansas and Colorado, by the Rocky mountain locust, or western grasshopper, in the years 1874 and 1876 the division of partment of agriculture has sent an agent into the field in the western states each summer to study grasshopper conditions for the purpose of enabling the department to predict, if possible, a future invasion and to warn farmers well in advance. This annual trip for the present year has just been completed, and the special agent, Mr. W. D. Hunter, has just reported to Dr. Howard, the entomologist of the department.

This year's investigations have been of special interest on account of a slight outbreak of the locust in North Dakota and on account of an unusual abundance of local nonmigratory species in different western states. Moreover, a rather large swarm was seen in flight in early August, the exact settling point of which it is now difficult to approximate. Earlier in the summer a statement was published in certain western newspapers to the effect that it was considered by entomologists that the Turtle mountain region in North Dakota and Montana probably was a permanent breeding ground of the destructive migratory grasshopper, a statement which occasioned much alarm and indignation on the part of railroads and other landowners in that part of the state. This region, therefore, was carefully traversed and scrutinized by Mr. Hunter, who reports that the migratory grasshopper does not breed permanently in the Turtle mountains nor in that immediate vicinity. The probable breeding ground, he thinks, is upon the Assiniboin river, north and investigated next season.

KNOTTY LABOR QUESTION.

The Right of an Employer to Work With His Men.

A novel question was recently brought up before a labor union in this city, says the New York Tribune. which the aforesaid union has found exceedingly difficult to answer satisfactorily. The question was, "Does an employer have the right to don a workingman's garb and labor along with his employees?"

It appears that a contractor known as John Arlt, feeling the need of a little exercise, decided to show his employees how to lay brick on a row of buildings which he was erecting on the east side. Mr. Arlt was once a bricklayer himself, and he wanted to demonstrate to his men that he could give points to them in the art of bricklaying. The employees took it as a good joke, and they applauded his action. In fact, they were rather proud that they were working for a man who didn't think it beneath him to put on overalls and blouse and labor with them the same as any other journey-

Everything went well for a time. Mr. Arlt was not only getting plenty of exercise, but his good example of industry had such an effect on his men that the walls of the building went up like magic. Just then, however, the walking delegate appeared on the scene and demanded to see Mr. Arit's union card. The latter, who is a German, was much surprised at the request, and he told the delegate so.

"Don't I employ union men?" he inquired of the delegate. "Don't I pay them der union vages? You find no scabs mit my men, do you? Don't I der exercise get if I der vork vat I vant to do, do it? You vas off mit your base, don't it?'

The delegate insisted that it did not matter whether the contractor employed union men; he did not have a card himself, so consequently he could not be permitted to work with union men even if they were his own employees.

Finally it was resolved to lay the matter before Bricklayers' union, No. 11, and a meeting was held at which the subject was debated from all sides. Nothing could be found in the constitution of the union bearing in any way on the subject, and the meeting could reach no decision as to the proper course to pursue. The matter was still unsettled yesterday, and it bids fair to prove a lively question of debate among the labor unions for weeks to come. In the meantime Mr. Arlt continues to lay brick "the way his father did," much to his own satisfaction and the amusement of his employees.

THE LOCUST PEST.

Interesting Investigations by an Agricultural Department Expert.

Every year since the invasion of certain western states, particularly Kansas and Colorado, by the Rocky mountain locust, or western grasshopper, in the years 1874 and 1876 the division of entomology of the United States department of agriculture has sent an states each summer to study grasshopper conditions for the purpose of enabling the department to predict, if possible, a future invasion and to warn farmers well in advance. This annual trip for the present year has just been completed, and the special agent, Mr. W. D. Hunter, has just reported to Dr. Howard, the entomologist of the department.

This year's investigations have been of special interest on account of a slight outbreak of the locust in North Dakota and on account of an unusual abundance of local nonmigratory species in different western states. Moreover, a rather large swarm was seen in flight in early August, the exact settling point of which it is now difficult to approximate.

Earlier in the summer a statement was published in certain western newspapers to the effect that it was considered by entomologists that the Turtle mountain region in North Dakota and Montana probably was a permanent breeding ground of the destructive migratory grasshopper, a statement which occasioned much alarm and indignation on the part of railroads and state. This region, therefore, was care-Hunter, who reports that the migratory grasshopper does not breed perma-Watson & Sloan. Stoves and nently in the Turtle mountains nor in that immediate vicinity. The popularity of John S. McNutt as clerk of courts was splendidly illustrated Tuesday when the voters of the county gave him the magnificent vote of 8,285, a plurality of 3,940, or 112 votes more than were cast for the head of the ticket. This shows that not alone does Mr. Mc-Nutt enjoy the fullest confidence of every voter in his own party but also of scores belonging to other parties.

GROWING.

There is growing up in this country an army of stalwart and courageous men, backed by noble-hearted Christian women, wives, mothers, sisters and sweethearts of these self same stalwarts, who have determined that the un-American saloon shall cease to exist in this nation, so blessed by Almighty God. Year by year these stalwarts are casting their votes in a manner which is causing the leaders of the liquor traffic to have chills permeate the very center of their spinal columns, and almost give heart failure to the politicians who have based their hopes of success upon the liquor vote. We have had men in this district who have accepted the influence and money of the liquor league, and voted in direct opposition to the wishes of their constituents, and directly in opposition to solemn pledges made by them before they were elected to office; and these same recreants have been relegated to political oblivion, despised by all good men and women and even held in contempt by the whisky bosses who bought them. The bandwriting is on the wall. Political tricksters will make note.

WE PRINT THE TRUTH.

The News Review published exclusively on Thursday evening the news, of general public interest, that the manufacturers had decided to increase the price of ware five per cent. Friday evening the lower region sheet, finding itself scooped completely on one of the most important news items of the year by the superior newsgathering ability and hustle of the reportorial staff of this paper, came out with a roorback that the potters had not raised prices and said: "William Cartwright, of the Cart wright Pottery Co, said Friday morning that the announcement that the manufacturers had increased the selling price of ware five per cent was an error. The manufacturers are working on a plan to increase the selling price of ware, but final action has not yet been taken."

Mr. Cartwright informed the News REVIEW last evening that he had simply told the lower region sheet's reporter that he "had nothing to say." The lower region sheet therefore stands pilloried before the public branded as guilty of contemptible trickery, unmiti gated falsehood and dastardly deceit upon the public. ### Hard to Get Out.

An English woman who has been traveling in Russia seems to have found it easier to get in than to get out of the czar's country. She sent her passport to the authorities before starting in order to have it vised and then blithely made for the frontier.

Arriving there, she was immediately detained and taken before the powers that not only be, but also do, at the Russian frontier. Here she was informed that her passport did not permit her to leave the country and that she would be obliged to make herself comfortable while the police found out all she had done while in the country.

At first she was rather pleased at the thought of how she would tell her friends about it when she got home. But when she found that she had to pay not only for her room, her meals, service and all that sort of thing, but also for long telegrams which the authorities were exchanging in regard to month, to suit the convenience of her case, her pleasure dwindled as rapidly as her funds did.

She finally got off, however, but without receiving any apology or any reimbursement.-New York Sun.

The text matter of this work embraces a full and complete history of the through other channels is old and bro- islands and the various races of people who have inhabited them, the climate. products, resources, etc.

> The work also embraces over 1,200 exquisite original photographs, secured by the artist at a great danger to himself and at a very heavy outlay of money by his employers. sketches are genuinely beautiful and will please the eye and delight the heart of every one who possesses a love for the beautiful in nature.

Think of it, readers of the News Re-VIEW, a number of the battle scenes represented in this history were taken by the daring artist in the midst of a hot conflict, with bullets flying all around and about him.

The scope of the work includes Cuba, Porto Rico, the beautiful Isle of Pines, the Hawaiian Islands, the Philippine and Sulu Archipelagoes.

The illustrations and descriptions cover an infinite variety of the most intensely interesting subjects, including the people and their homes and home life, noted places, the marvelously beautiful scenery of the tropics, historic localities, famous battle grounds, celebrated fortifications, public buildings, cathedrals and special representations of exquisite landscape views.

Of deep interest at the present time will be the description of the inhabitants of the Philippine and Sulu Archipelagoes, not only of the natives in and around Manila and the surrounding cities, towns and villages, but also of the wild and savage tribes inhabiting the mountain and lake regions and the small islands to the south, known as the Sulu group. Heretofore these people have been as little known as if they dwelt upon another planet. By means of the camera and pencil, these strange lands have been transferred to the printed page, showing land and inhabitants, together with their peculiar surroundings and the wonderful possibilities for future development.

This history will be published in 24 consecutive parts, each part containing 32 or more pages, which, with extra inserts, colored maps and photogravures, etc., constitute a volume of 830 pages and more than 1,200 illustrations. Each part will contain as a frontispiece special photogravure, in the rich natural colors of the tropics; also a number of extra full page nickle type half tones. It will be the largest and most superbly illustrated book ever published for so small a price. The finest quality of coated paper will be used, insuring the most artistic and pleasing results.

Lincoln and the Hair Restorer,

Here is a story of President Lincoln from the late Judge Carter, who was a member of congress from Cleveland during the war and one of Mr. Lincoln's most intimate friends. It relates to a Quaker philanthropist from Philadelphia who did not have a hair on his head, but took a great interest in public affairs and was constantly calling at the White House in behalf of somebody or other who happened to be in trouble and took up a great deal of Mr. Lincoln's time. The president treated him with great courtesy. although his patience was frequently tried. One day when the philanthropist was particularly verbose and persistent and refused to depart, although he knew that important delegations were waiting, Mr. Lincoln suddenly rose, walked over to a wardrobe in the corner of the cabinet chamber and took a bottle from a shelf. Handing it to his visitor, he remarked:

"Did you ever use this stuff on your

"No, sir; I never did."

"Well," remarked Mr. Lincoln, "I advise you to try it, and if at first you don't succeed, keep it up. They say it's a good thing to make the hair grow. Take this bottle with you and come back in six months and tell me how it works.'

A WONDERFUL HISTORY

Our Islands and Their People.

AS SEEN WITH CAMERA AND

Pencil. Introduced by Major General Joseph Wheeler. A History Which Should be in Every Family, on Every Student's

This is one of the most complete histories of the new possessions of Uncle Samuel that the mind can well conceive

The text matter of this work embraces a full and complete history of the islands and the various races of people who have inhabited them, the climate, products, resources, etc.

The work also embraces over 1,200 exquisite original photographs, secured by the artist at a great danger to himself and at a very heavy outlay of money by his employers. sketches are genuinely beautiful and will please the eye and delight the heart of every one who possesses a love for the beautiful in nature.

Think of it, readers of the News Re-VIEW, a number of the battle scenes represented in this history were taken by the daring artist in the midst of a hot conflict, with bullets flying all around and about him.

The scope of the work includes Cuba, Porto Rico, the beautiful Isle of Pines, the Hawaiian Islands, the Philippine and Sulu Archipelagoes.

The illustrations and descriptions cover an infinite variety of the most intensely interesting subjects, including the people and their homes and home life, noted places, the marvelously beautiful scenery of the tropics, historic localities, famous battle grounds, celebrated fortifications, public buildings, cathedrals and special representations of exquisite landscape views.

Of deep interest at the present time will be the description of the inhabitants of the Philippine and Sulu Archipelagoes, not only of the natives in and around Manila and the surrounding cities, towns and villages, but also of the wild and savage tribes inhabiting the mountain and lake regions and the small islands to the south, known as the Sulu group. Heretofore these people have been as little known as if they dwelt upon another planet. By means of the camera and pencil, these strange lands have been transferred to the printed page, showing land and inhabitants, together with their peculiar surroundings and the wonderful possibilities for future development.

This history will be published in 24 consecutive parts, each part containing 32 or more pages, which, with extra inserts, colored maps and photogravures, etc., constitute a volume of 830 pages and more than 1,200 illustrations. Each part will contain as a frontispiece a special photogravure, in the rich natural colors of the tropics; also a number It will be the largest and most superbly illustrated book ever published for so small a price. ### Lincoln and the Hair Restorer,

Here is a stery of President Lincoln from the late Judge Carter, who was a member of congress from Cleveland during the war and one of Mr. Lincoln's most intimate friends. It relates to a Quaker philanthropist from Philadelphia who did not have a hair on his head, but took a great interest in public affairs and was constantly calling at the White House in behalf of somebody or other who happened to be in trouble and took up a great deal of Mr. Lincoln's time. The president treated him with great courtesy. although his patience was frequently tried. One day when the philanthropist was particularly verbose and persistent and refused to depart, although he knew that important delegations were waiting, Mr. Lincoln suddenly rose, walked over to a wardrobe in the corner of the cabinet chamber and took a bottle from a sheif. Handing it to his visitor, he remarked:

BUT GOT THE WORST OF IT

And Then Wanted to Trade Back but Mcplevin Suit Followed and Harvey Won Out-The Jury Thought Each Party Should Stand a Portion of the Costs.

A horse case was aired yesterday afternoon in the court of Squire Hill and each member of the jury that heard the testimony now think they are experts on the subject of horses.

Last Saturday Frank Harvey and Joe McMillan decided they would swap horses and they did so. After Harvey had more fully sized up his new horse he decided that he had got decidedly the worst of the trade, and he hunted up McMillan and wanted to trade back, but McMillan couldn't see it that for a time and then Harvey went to the office of Justice Hill and replevined the animal from McMillan. The case came up for hearing yesterday afternoon and the jury decided that the trade was off and both men should get their original horses. They recommended that the costs of the action be assessed against both parties but as the law don't provide for such cases it is probable Mc-Millan will have the whole thing to pay.

Wendell Phillips and Blaine.

When Wendell Phillips was last in Washington, he was for a few minutes on the floor of the United States senate, surrounded by a group of senators, among whom was Senator James G. Blaine, always a favorite with Mr. Phillips. It so happened that a few weeks before this time Mr. Blaine, in presenting to congress the statue of Governor King, first governor of Maine, to be placed in the rotunda of the capitol, had commented severely on the loyalty of Massachusetts, and especially the Federalist party, during the war with Great Britain in 1812.

Of this party the father of Wendell Phillips, John Phillips, was a conspicuous member. When Blaine's speech was made Dawes and Hoar were senators from Massachusetts, and they both essayed some sort of an impromptu reply thereto, but did themselves little credit in parrying the thrusts of Blaine's glittering rapier.

So, when Wendell Phillips met Blaine on this occasion, he said to him laughingly, "I wish I had been a member of this body for about an hour the other day when you made that speech attacking the Massachusetts Federalists."

"Ah," said Mr. Blaine with that ready wit which never deserted him, "if you had been here I shouldn't have made that speech!"-Harper's Maga-

AWESOME TREES.

How the Giants of the Yosemite Impressed a Traveler.

We made a side trip to the big trees of the Mariposa group, which are about one hour's ride from the hotel, says a correspondent. If the smallest of these trees could be planted anywhere in Pennsylvania, the railroads would run excursion trains to it and make money. The trees in this grove are so large that it takes a good while to fully appreciate the facts about the size of the biggest of them. The "Grizzly Giant" is 34 feet through at the base and over 300 feet high. This tree would overtop the spires on the Pittsburg cathedral by about 100 feet. The trunk of this tree is 100 feet clear to the first limb, which is 20 feet in circumference. Many other trees here are nearly as large as this one, and there are 400 in the grove.

Through it several tunnels have been cut, and a four horse stage can go through these tunnels on the run and never graze a hub. You get an approach to an adequate idea of their size by walking off a hundred yards or so while the stage is standing at the foot of a tree and glancing from top to bottom, keeping the stage in mind as a means of comparison. The stage and horses look like the little tin outfit that Santa Clause brought you when you were a good little boy.

These trees are no longer to be called the largest in the world, however. A species of eucalyptus has been found in Australia as large or larger. Emerson warns us against the use of the superlative, but when you are in this region of the globe you can't get along without a liberal use of it. He himself says of Yosemite, "It is the only spot I have ever found that came up to the brag." And as I stood in the big tree grove I remembered that some one called Emerson himself "the Sequoia of the human race."-Pittsburg Distomed to the Chinaman who carries his nickel for carfare in his ear, but it remained for an enterprising representative of The Record to discover a man who used the soft lobe of his ear for a cotton wad.

Passengers on a street car in the Quaker City the other day were attracted to a well dressed man of middle age because of something peculiar they noticed about his right ear. It seemed to those who looked that the ear was minus a lobe. Suddenly there was a flop, and the interested passengers then noticed that the ear was all right, with the lobe in the place where it ought to be.

By the time the passengers had gone deep into wonder over the strange sight the man raised his hand and pushed the lobe into the opening of the ear, placing the ear in the condition it was before the flop. Noticing that the man who sat next to him stared in an inquiring way at him, the man with the magic ear said that the lobe was his earache cure.

He was a great sufferer from the ache, he said, and formerly used cotton to shut the wind out of his ear. One day he was without cotton and found that he could shove the lobe into the opening. It did not only keep the wind out, but the pain disappeared quicker, and since then he has always put the lower part of his ear into use when the earache has come on.

Wendell Phillips and Blaine.

When Wendell Phillips was last in Washington, he was for a few minutes on the floor of the United States senate, surrounded by a group of senators, among whom was Senator James G. Blaine, always a favorite with Mr. Phillips. It so happened that a few weeks before this time Mr. Blaine, in presenting to congress the statue of Governor King, first governor of Maine, to be placed in the rotunda of the capitol, had commented severely on the loyalty of Massachusetts, and especially the Federalist party, during the war with Great Britain in 1812.

Of this party the father of Wendell Phillips, John Phillips, was a conspicuous member. When Blaine's speech was made Dawes and Hoar were senators from Massachusetts, and they both essayed some sort of an impromptu reply thereto, but did themselves little credit in parrying the thrusts of Blaine's glittering rapier.

So, when Wendell Phillips met Blaine on this occasion, he said to him laughingly, "I wish I had been a member of this body for about an hour the other day when you made that speech attacking the Massachusetts Federalists."

"Ah," said Mr. Blaine with that ready wit which never deserted him, "if you had been here I shouldn't have made that speech!"-Harper's Maga-

Perfection of body is not necessary, either, for many misshaped men have been dignified even when they were not, like the Duc de Vendome, Princes of the L.lies in days when that distinction meant so much.

Little men and wizened men have both inspired awe, for great soldiers trembled if Louis XIV frowned, and no man received without weakened knees a rebuke from William III. The protruding under lip of the Hapsburgs has never detracted from their majesty, and Victor Emmanuel, who, for all his good manners, always suggested to the onlooker a bull face to face with the metadore, was for all that every inch a king.-Spectator.

Topic For the Week Beginning Nov. 12-Comment by Rev. S. H. Doyle, Topic.-The Living Bread.-John vi, 26-35.

Christ was often wont to use types and figures to illustrate His character and His work. This was particularly the case when men misunderstood or failed to understand Him and His mission. To Thomas, who had failed to grasp Christ's mission, He illustrated it by saying, "I am the way." To those who falsely thought that the blessings He was to bring men temporal and carnal He here describes Himself as the true Bread, the living Bread from heaven. He was not to feed the body by multiplying loaves and fishes, but was to satisfy the longings of the soul by Himself. What He means by Himself as the Bread of life is simply that as bread food is necessary to the physical life and is able to satisfy and sustain the physical life, so He is necessary to the life of the soul, able to satisfy its cravings and able to sustain it forever.

1. The philosophy of bread in its relation to life. That bread sustains life is indisputable. The man who ceases to eat soon ceases to live. But how bread sustains the life cannot be explained. We may follow the food in its changes in the human system, but just when or just how the food we eat becomes our life no scientist can explain. We know the fact, but the philosophy of it is unknown. Nor can we tell how Christ satisfies and sustains the life of the soul. This fact has led many to refuse to accept Christ. But such a course is as foolish as it would be for one to refuse to eat food because he does not know how the food becomes his life. We know that Christ does sustain spir itual life. Without Him the soul languishes and dies. How He becomes our Bread of life we need not worry about, so long as we know that He does satisfy all our spiritual longings.

2. Bread in its application to life 1. Bread to sustain life must be eat en. We must actually partake of food before it can become our life. The mere possession of the richest abundance of food will not keep us alive unless we partake of the food. The 5,000 had to actually eat of the loaves and fishes before they were satisfied and filled. So Christ must be actually partaken of before he can sustain the spiritual life within us. It is not enough that God has provided the living Bread. We must partake of it, we must actually accept Christ and feed upon Him by faith. 2. Bread to sustain life must be eaten constantly. The craving once satisfied, soon returns and must be satisfied again. So we must be in constant communion with Christ, if he is to sustain our spiritual lives. A Sabbath communion with Christ, a quarterly communion with Christ will not suffice -daily, hourly, momentarily, we should be in close touch and communion with Christ, the living Bread. Let us keep in constant communion with Christ by prayer, by daily study of His word and by a constant indwelling of the Holy Ghost, that He may be the Bread of Life to our souls.

The Cheerful Face.

Next to the sunlight of heaven is the cheerful face. There is no mistaking it. The bright eye, the unclouded brow, the sunny smile, all tell of that which dwells within. Who has not felt its electrifying influence? One glance at this face lifts us out of the mists and shadows into the beautiful realms of hope. One cheerful face in the house hold will keep everything warm and light within. It may be a very plain face, but there is something in it we feel, but cannot express, and its cheery smile sends the blood dancing through the veins for very joy. There is a word of blessed magic in the plain, cheerful face, and we would not exchange it for all the soulless beauty that ever graced the fairest form on earth. -St. Xavier's Monthly.

Churches In Summer.

The time is rapidly coming when American Protestants will have to call a halt to the custom of closing town churches in the summer. The cessation of church work in the summer is accountable for a very large proportion of the neglect of the Sabbath among Christian people. You cannot intermit public worship for two months and then sustain it with enthusiasm the rest of the year. The number of people who go out of town in the summer is grossly exaggerated, and those who do go are chinery.

TAGALS FULL OF FIGHT.

Officers of a Sugar Ship Tell of Affairs In the Philippines. According to the first and second officers of the Holyrood, a British vessel just arrived in New York from the Philippines with 10,000 mats of raw sugar, says the Tribune, the natives of Iloilo are glad that the Americans in stead of the Spaniards are now occupying the Philippines. Captain Miller of the Holyrood has been ashore most of the time since his vessel arrived on Saturday, and the best the reporter could do was to talk with the first and second officers, Fleming and Carring

"The Filipinos at Iloilo who loaded our sugar got about $1.50 in Mexican money for 12 hours' work," said Fleming. "That is equal to about 75 cents in gold. They are good workers, those natives, although very stupid. Their work as stevedores makes them extremely muscular. They are big fellows too. They are satisfied with the control of Iloilo by the United States, because they are getting pretty nearly double the wages they received three years ago, and the scale is still going up. We left Iloilo for the Suez canal about June 1. On May 1 we were at Manila. That was the anniversary of Admiral Dewey's naval victory and the sailors had a great day of it. Many of the prominent officers of the army and navy were present. All the boats in the harbor were covered with flags and every one had a day off."

"Where do the Tagals get their ammunition?" the reporter asked Carrington, the second officer.

"That's what Otis and Dewey want to know," said Carrington. "They seem to have money and friends among the big powers. One of these days it will all come out that some rich gang of filibusters is supplying Aguinaldo with ammunition, and when that comes, look out for breakers. They're even getting quick firing guns from somewhere.'

"What about peace between the natives and the Americans?"

"There won't be any right away." said Carrington. "The natives are savages. I wouldn't like to trust them any farther than I could see them. The better classes like the idea of belonging to the United States, but the more stupid know just enough to fight. I suppose this country will lick them out after awhile, but it will be a long time, there are so many of them."

Bohemians May Go to Buenos Ayres.

Many of the Bohemians living in this country, says a Chicago dispatch, are considering plans of emigrating to South America. Jose Faber of Buenos Ayres is in Chicago on his way to confer with Dr. Martin Garcia Merou, minister of the Argentine Republic at Washington, relative to the inducements offered to Bohemians to leave this country and take up their abode in the southern parts of the Argentine Republic. Mr. Faber has chosen three Bohemian newspaper men and a priest, who will explore the promised land at the expense of the Argentine Republic, with a view of inducing their countrymen to leave the United States if better opportunities are offered. If the reports of this commission are in favor of emigration, the Argentina government, according to the statement of Mr. Faber, will offer each settler 500 acres of land in the state of Chubut for a small consideration, with the understanding, however, that this tract shall be converted into farming land.

Angus Sinclair, editor of Locomotive Engineering, has received particulars from Switzerland about a syndicate of American and European capitalists having been formed to build large works in Switzerland for constructing railway machinery. The annual capacity of the works will be 600 locomotives, 1,000 steam railway passenger cars, 1,000 electric railway cars and 10,000 switches and signals, with electrical motive power. The directors are: G. Burnham of the Baldwin Locomotive works, Philadelphia, president; S. G. Brill of Brill & Co., Philadelphia, vice president; W. Siemens of Siemens & Halske, Berlin, secretary; De Neuflize, director of the Paris, Lyons and Mediterranean railway, treasurer, and Cernielle Barbey. general manager of the Yverdan and Ste. ### "There's nothing half so sweet in life as love's young dream."

It was meant to be so when woman was ordained man's helpmeet. But it was never meant that love's dream should have so sad an awaking. It is due chiefly to ignorance that young women are so rudely awakened from the dream of love. They enter on the married state without physcal or mental preparation. They are entirely unaware of the great physiological change suggested by the one word " marriage." Every young woman should be prepared for that change. There should be no neglect of irregularities. The perfect health of the peculiarly womanly organs should be the daily care. Thousands of women who entered in marriage unprepared, and passed from irregularities to debilitating drains, inflammation, ulceration and female weakness, have been altogether and absolutely cured by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. This great medicine is not a cure-all, but a specific for the chronic diseases peculiar to women. It does one thing perfectly; it makes weak women strong and sick women well.

"For two years I had been a sufferer from chronic diseases and female weakness," writes Mrs. Allen A. Bobson, of 1125 Rodman Street. Philadelphia, Pa. To those who falsely thought that the blessings He was to bring men temporal and carnal He here describes Himself as the true Bread, the living Bread from heaven. He was not to feed the body by multiplying loaves and fishes, but was to satisfy the longings of the soul by Himself. What He means by Himself as the Bread of life is simply that as bread food is necessary to the physical life and is able to satisfy and sustain the physical life, so He is necessary to the life of the soul, able to satisfy its cravings and able to sustain it forever.

1. The philosophy of bread in its relation to life. That bread sustains life is indisputable. The man who ceases to eat soon ceases to live. But how bread sustains the life cannot be explained. We may follow the food in its changes in the human system, but just when or just how the food we eat becomes our life no scientist can explain. We know the fact, but the philosophy of it is unknown. Nor can we tell how Christ satisfies and sustains the life of the soul. This fact has led many to refuse to accept Christ. But such a course is as foolish as it would be for one to refuse to eat food because he does not know how the food becomes his life. We know that Christ does sustain spiritual life. Without Him the soul languishes and dies. How He becomes our Bread of life we need not worry about, so long as we know that He does satisfy all our spiritual longings. 2. Bread in its application to life.

1. Bread to sustain life must be eaten. We must actually partake of food before it can become our life. The mere possession of the richest abundance of food will not keep us alive unless we partake of the food. The 5,000 had to actually eat of the loaves and fishes before they were satisfied and filled. So Christ must be actually partaken of before he can sustain the spiritual life within us. It is not enough that God has provided the living Bread. We must partake of it, we must actually accept Christ and feed upon Him by faith. 2. Bread to sustain life must be eaten constantly. The craving once satisfied, soon returns and must be satisfied again. So we must be in constant communion with Christ, if he is to sustain our spiritual lives. A Sabbath communion with Christ, a quarterly communion with Christ will not suffice -daily, hourly, momentarily, we should be in close touch and communion with Christ, the living Bread. Let us keep in constant communion with Christ by prayer, by daily study of His word and by a constant indwelling of the Holy Ghost, that He may be the Bread of Life to our souls.

The Cheerful Face.

Next to the sunlight of heaven is the cheerful face. There is no mistaking it The bright eye, the unclouded brow, the sunny smile, all tell of that which dwells within. Who has not felt its electrifying influence? One glance at this face lifts us out of the mists and shadows into the beautiful realms of hope. One cheerful face in the household will keep everything warm 'and light within. It may be a very plain face, but there is something in it we feel, but cannot express, and its cheery smile sends the blood dancing through the veins for very joy. There is a word of blessed magic in the plain, cheerful face, and we would not exchange it for all the soulless beauty that ever graced the fairest form on earth. -St. Xavier's Monthly.

According to the first and second officers of the Holyrood, a British vessel just arrived in New York from the Philippines with 10,000 mats of raw sugar, says the Tribune, the natives of Iloilo are glad that the Americans in stead of the Spaniards are now occupying the Philippines. Captain Miller of the Holyrood has been ashore most of the time since his vessel arrived on Saturday, and the best the reporter could do was to talk with the first and second officers, Fleming and Carring

"The Filipinos at Iloilo who loaded our sugar got about $1.50 in Mexican money for 12 hours' work," said Flem-"That is equal to about 75 cents in gold. They are good workers, those natives, although very stupid. Their work as stevedores makes them extremely muscular. They are big fellows too. They are satisfied with the control of Iloilo by the United States, because they are getting pretty nearly double the wages they received three years ago, and the scale is still going up. We left Iloilo for the Suez canal about June 1. On May 1 we were at Manila. That was the anniversary of Admiral Dewey's naval victory and the sailors had a great day of it. Many of the prominent officers of the army and navy were present. All the boats in the harbor were covered with flags and every one had a day off."

"Where do the Tagals get their ammunition?" the reporter asked Carrington, the second officer.

"That's what Otis and Dewey want to know," said Carrington. "They seem to have money and friends among the big powers. One of these days it will all come out that some rich gang of filibusters is supplying Aguinaldo with ammunition, and when that comes, look out for breakers. They're even getting quick firing guns from somewhere."

"What about peace between the natives and the Americans?"

"There won't be any right away." said Carrington. "The natives are savages. I wouldn't like to trust them any farther than I could see them The better classes like the idea of belonging to the United States, but the more stupid know just enough to fight. I suppose this country will lick them out after awhile, but it will be a long time, there are so many of them."

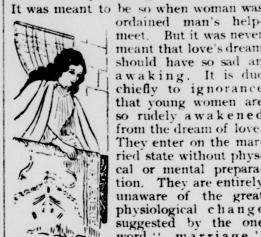

Bohemians May Go to Buenos Ayres. Many of the Bohemians living in this country, says a Chicago dispatch, are considering plans of emigrating to South America. Jose Faber of Buenos Ayres is in Chicago on his way to confer with Dr. Martin Garcia Merou, minister of the Argentine Republic at Washington, relative to the inducements offered to Bohemians to leave this country and take up their abode in the southern parts of the Argentine Republic. Mr. Faber has chosen three Bohemian newspaper men and a priest, who will explore the promised land at the expense of the Argentine Republic, with a view of inducing their countrymen to leave the United States if better opportunities are offered. If the reports of this commission are in favor of emigration, the Argentina government, according to the statement of Mr. Faber, will offer each settler 500 acres of land in the state of Chubut for a small consideration, with the understanding, however, that this tract shall be converted into farming land.

Swiss Locomotive and Car Shops.

Angus Sinclair, editor of Locomotive Engineering, has received particulars from Switzerland about a syndicate of American and European capitalists having been formed to build large works in Switzerland for constructing railway machinery. The annual capacity of the works will be 600 locomotives, 1,000 steam railway passenger cars, 1,000 electric railway cars and 10,000 switches and signals, with electrical motive power. The directors are: G. Burnham of the Baldwin Locomotive works, Philadelphia, president; S. G. Brill of Brill & Co., Philadelphia, vice president; W. Siemens of Siemens & Halske, Berlin, secretary; De Neuflize, director of the Paris, Lyons and Mediterranean railway, treasurer, and Cernielle Barbey. general manager of the Yverdan and Ste. Topic For the Week Beginning Nov. 12-Comment by Rev. S. H. Doyle, Topic.-The Living Bread.-John vi, 26-35.

Christ was often wont to use types and figures to illustrate His character and His work. This was particularly the case when men misunderstood or failed to understand Him and His mission. To Thomas, who had failed to grasp Christ's mission, He illustrated it by saying, "I am the way." To those who falsely thought that the blessings He was to bring men temporal and carnal He here describes Himself as the true Bread, the living Bread from heav en. He was not to feed the body by multiplying loaves and fishes, but was to satisfy the longings of the soul by Himself. What He means by Himself as the Bread of life is simply that as bread food is necessary to the physical life and is able to satisfy and sustain the physical life, so He is necessary to the life of the soul, able to satisfy its cravings and able to sustain it forever. "The bread of God is He which cometh down from heaven and giveth life

Hunger and thirst are the signals of bedily need and are most imperious in their demands. Continually the wants must be supplied. Great range in choice of foods is possible, but none can do without food of some kind. Yet this is not the most urgent demand of human nature. It is a law of our make up from which escape is impossible that man shall not live by bread alone, but by every word which proceedeth out of the mouth of God.

Starvation with all its attendant miseries and horrors is not the most dreadful fate which can overtake mankind. The deepest pain possible is soul hunger and destitution of spirit. Men can live long on coarsest fare and scanty rations. Men will keep long and voluntary fasts in the midst of plenty when some special gain can be thereby attained. Soul starvation none willingly endures. Better death than this. Instinctively all shrink from the unutterable horror of a hopeless future of comfortless existence.

To satisfy the heart craving for happiness in existence the strangest fancies and wildest delusions have been cherished when the true and rational have been lost out of the life.

That which attracts in Jesus Christ is the deep wonder of His matchless insight into the morally right and true. He speaks, and we are surprised at the marvelous simplicity of His statements. Life seems wondrously luminous, and what before was impenetrably dark becomes clear. We see all so openly and wonder that, we ever were perplexed. The soul sees where before it helplessly groped. We know when before we could only doubt and question and surmise.

The wonder of all ages is Jesus of Nazareth. Search all centuries and every land, and you will find no other one like Him. He makes no guesses, hazards no theories and gives no cause of argument. He just announces facts, and we test and find them true. We trust ourselves to His directions and find peace. We obey His commands and are satis-

All other expedients fail to give settled assurance to our natures. The book of Ecclesiastes gives us the picture of a man seeking soul fullness. He tries all worldly possibilities and finds in them only starvation of moral impulses and powers. Jesus feeds every energy for good and fills to utmost satisfaction every appetency for happiness and right. Well does He say:

"I am the bread of life."

He is the miracle of manhood, the world, the prophecy of a future existence divinely human.

Nearly all flowers in which there is a notable proportion of blue are unattractive when seen under artificial light. Hence purple and lilac flowers do not usually look well at night, though there are exceptions owing to the intensity of the red in some purples, which comes out well at night and causes them to appear as crimsons. #### The Last Great Convention.

In many points the Epworth League convention last July in Indianapolis was the greatest gathering of Methodists ever held. It is likely so to remain for a long time to come. Much good was accomplished without doubt, but the day of great conventions like this has probably passed. The Christian Endeavor gathering at Detroit last summer demonstrated the same fact. The crest of the wave has passed.

Some things very desirable to reach these monster crowds cannot effect. They must in the nature of the case closely resemble each other. They have accomplished their purpose and served the end sought. Let them pass. Some will regret their passing, but not for ong. Better things will take their

The latter slowly focused his gold eyeglasses on the speaker. "Did you think that I was one of the waiters? he asked icily.

The others held their knives and forks suspended in midair, expecting to see the man shrivel up, but ao such phenomenon took place. He turned and beckoned to the nearest waiter.

"George, come here, please." "What is it, sir?" asked George.

"I wanted to apologize to you-tha is all. You see, I mistook this party here for you, but I hope you won't be offended at it. Now pass me them pertaters, and we'll go on with the rest of the meal."-London Tit-Bits.

Flowers Under Artificial Light.

Nearly all flowers in which there is a notable proportion of blue are unattractive when seen under artificial light. Hence purple and lilac flowers do not usually look well at night, though there are exceptions owing to the intensity of the red in some purples, which comes out well at night and causes them to appear as crimsons. Yellows invariably lose brilliancy, and pale yellows become bad whites under gaslights, but reds and crimsons and all shades of pink and white retain their beauty, and, as a United States. The real power rests in rule, green leaves are pleasing under

THE RISE IN PRICES.

Dun's Review Said It Was a Noteworthy Feature-Wheat Not Strong, Corn Advanced.

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.-R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade issued today said in part:

The most noteworthy feature of the time is the rise in prices. Cotton rose on Wednesday to 7.81 cents with much excitement, putting the price 21/2 cents higher than it was a year ago, and yet it was still higher in September, 1897. Wool has risen relatively more, about 10 per cent in two weeks, and the average of 100 quotations by Coats Bros., is higher than it has been at any other time since May, 1893. Pig iron has risen further, $25 being quoted for anthracite No. 1, the highest price since January, 1883. But hines are at the highest since January, 1873, having risen all the year with very little reaction. Prices of products have not correspondingly advanced.

The iron industry, which has led all years in the advance, now leads the way toward a readjustment of values. While contracts for pig cover the entire produts of the most important districts for six to nine months in advance, many of the consuming works in some lines approach the end of their orders and have new competition to meet, so that sheets have fallen $4 per ton at Pittsburg and $9 from the nighest point in September, and plates are $6 lower there and $3 at Philadelphia. At the same time bars are $1 per ton higher, both at Philadelphia and Pittsburg, the demand being enormous, and at Chicago very heavy contracts have been made for car and implement works. A bridge combination is thought likely to effect future business in structural shapes, which continues large for the season.

Wheat has not been very active nor strong. Exports are also smaller. The decrease in foreign demand may be ascribed in part to heavy previous exports, but pernaps still more to the great movement of corn. Corn advanced about as much as wheat fell, though with prospects of a heavy yield.

Failures for the week have been 107 in the United States, against 211 last year, and 23 in Canada, against 26 last

Ludlow Points Out That Though Civil Governor, He Would Have Military Power.

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—Brigadier General William Ludlow, military governor of Havana, ___ reading the special dispatches from Washington, describing the impending change in the goverament of Cuba, said in part:

"Assuming that the administration really proposes a change substantially as set forth does not surprise me. The change as outlined would not, bowever, in my judgment, be so radical as might at first be thought. General Brooke is now a civil governor as well as a military governor. General Wood, if he should be made the head of the governmeni in Cuba, would be, as I understand the scheme, denominated civil governor, but he would not be divested either of his military rank or of military authority and power. A military force would remain in the island and would be necessary-or at least almost certainly-subject to the supreme head, the civil governor. It has been our constant aim and practice to subordinate the mintary to the civil as much as

THE RISE IN PRICES.

Dun's Review Said It Was a Noteworthy Feature-Wheat Not Strong, Corn Advanced.

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.-R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade issued today said in part:

The most noteworthy feature of the time is the rise in prices. Cotton rose on Wednesday to 7.81 cents with much excitement, putting the price 21/2 cents higher than it was a year ago, and yet it was still higher in September, 1897. Wool has risen relatively more, about 10 per cent in two weeks, and the average of 100 quotations by Coats Bros., is higher than it has been at any other time since May, 1893. Pig iron has risen further, $25 being quoted for anthracite No. 1, the highest price since January, 1883. But hides are at the highest since January, 1873, having risen all the year with very little reaction. Prices of products have not correspondingly advanced.

The iron industry, which has led all The library directors failed to meet | years in the advance, now leads the way toward a readjustment of values. While contracts for pig cover the entire produts of the most important districts for six to nine months in advance, many of the consuming works in some lines approach the end of their orders and have new competition to meet, so that sheets The printers at the Diamond pottery, have fallen $4 per ton at Pittsburg and $9 from the nighest point in September, and plates are $6 lower there and $5 at Philadelphia. At the same time bars are $1 per ton higher, both at Philadelphia and Pittsburg, the demand being enormous, and at Chicago very heavy contracts have been made for car and implement works. A bridge combination is thought likely to effect future business in structural shapes, which continues large for the season.

Wheat has not been very active nor strong. Exports are also smaller. The decrease in foreign demand may be ascribed in part to heavy previous exports, but pernaps still more to the great movement of corn. Corn advanced about as much as wheat fell, though with prospects of a heavy yield.

Fanures for the week have been 107 in the United States, against 211 last year, and 23 in Canada, against 26 last

Rebels Attacked Town, Doing No Serious Harm.

REBELS HELD A CELEBRATION.

Arrangements Made For a British Ship to Carry Supplies to Spanish Prisoners. Operations of Wheatou-Brave Work by Lieutenant Hawkins.

MANILA, Nov. 11.-Another attack has been made by the insurgents on Balinag, the rebels firing into the town for about four hours, but doing no damwe. The insurgents held a celebration at Tarlac on Oct. 29 in honor of the anti-imperialists. The demonstration included a procession, religious services and speeches by Aguinaldo and other

The Independencia, in an editorial engonizing Mr. W. J. Bryan, says: "Mr. Bryan should be pictured in Filipino history with equal glory with Dr. Rizal, who, with Bryan and Aguinaldo, are the glorious trinity of our political re-

General Otis and the Spanish and are short of ammunition. British consuls made arrangements in accordance with which the British cruiser Peacock is to take 20,000 rations and clothing to the Spanish prisoners in the Albay and Camarines provinces.

General Young, with his cavalry, took San Jose on Wednesday. A small msurgent force stationed there retreated. The troops were ferried across he river to Cabanatuan on a raft. During the passage an accident occurred by which a private of the Twenty-second regiment was drowned.

The landing of the American troops at San Fabian Tuesday was the most spectacular affair of the kind since eneral Shatter's disembargation at Daiquiri. The co-operation of the troops and the navy was complete. The gunboats maintained a terrific bombardment for an hour, while the troops rushed waist-deep through the surf, under a heavy but badly directed rifle fire from the insurgent trenches, and charged right and left, pouring volley after volley at the fleeing rebels. Forty Filipinos were captured, mostly noncommissioned officers. Several insurgent dead and five wounded were found in a building which had suffered considerably from the bombardment. The town was well fortified. Captain Buck, with Pierce's and Patton's companies, pursued the insurgents on the left into the bamboo thicket. On the right was a frail foot bridge across the river, leading to the town. General Wheaton, personally commanding, ordered a charge across the bridge and Captain Howland of his staff led Coleman's and Elliott's companies of the Thirteenth and Shields' company of the Twenty-third, who behaved splendidly under their first fire, into the town, which was found to be nearly deserted, except by the aged and some Spaniards, who had hidden in the buffalo wallows and who came shouting delightedly toward the Americans.

The troops camped in the rain during the night, and in the morning General Wheaton established his headquarters in a church, quartered his men in the houses and sent the captured Filipinos beyond the outposts, with orders not to

Marsh's Twenty-third went toward Magdalen, on the Dagupan road, and had several sharp fights men, brought in 20 prisoners and had five men wounded. The Santo Tomas road seems to be the only possible means of retreat for a large body north of Tarlac, and General Wheaton commands it. The insurgents of this section are going to reinforce Tarlac. The battleship Oregon has arrived here from Hongkong.

Captain Chenoweth and Lieutenants Davis, Van Horne and Bradford, with two companies of the Seventeenth regiment, reconnoitering northeast of Mabalacal, attacked and routed a battalion of insurgents, killing 29 of them. Three Americans were wounded.

General Wheaton reported by the Bennington that when the landing was made at San Fabian the insurgents encountered were 300 recruits, who were on their way to Dagupan, where they expected the expedition to land. They retreated to the mountains. Twentyeight Spanish were rescued.

It has been raining hard throughout the week, handicapping Generals Lawton and MacArthur. The transportation is the chief difficulty. In the advance General Lawton depended upon the river to get his supplies. The San Isidro river is fed by mountain streams, and is alternately too shallow for navigation or too swift.

Two and three launches were necessary to pull the casco moving the supplies from San Isidro, and the mule trains moving supplies from San Isidro over the muddy roads, made only two or three miles a day. The troops were on short rations much of the time. The only provisions the country yields are rice, a few chickens and buffalo. The officers carry a supply of cash to pay the natives liberally for all they take.

The highlands are cool and the health of the troops is good.

He complained especially of the freight rates, which he said are extremely discriminative against Ameri-

Five Men Arrested In Philadelphia.

ALLEGED BOGUS BALLOTS CAST.

Five of the Accused In the Employ ot the National Government-The Trouble Said to Involve a Number of Prominent Politicians.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 11.-As the re-Washington, arrested Tuesday night, officers and making fraudulent returns. The defendants are John F. Sheehan, R. M. Drinkert, William Cook, Harry McCabe and George Kirkland. All but employ. It developed that Kirkland had been employed by the newspaper mentioned to enter the conspiracy. He was principal witness and bail in his case was fixed at $1,000, the others being required to furnish $1,800.

The testimony involved several prominent Republican politicians in this city and a lieutenant of Capital polce at Washington.

The fraud was accomplished in the thirteenth division of the Seventh ward and the election papers of this division were produced in evidence. The returns showed a vote of 357 for Colonel James E. Barnett, the Republican candidate for state treasurer, and five for W. T. Creasy, the Democratic candidate.

Kirkland, who at the time of his arrest said his name was George Wright, described the trip from Washington to this city of the alleged repeaters on Monday night. He then related in detail all that happened from the time of their arrival until their arrest at the railroad station on election day.

On Tuesday morning, he said, he and William Cook went to the house of Deputy Coroner Sam Salter, accompanied by Lieutenant Jos. G. Rodgers of the Capital police. Lieutenant Rodgers, Kirkland declared, was in charge of the party when it left Washington. At Salter's house they met the deputy coroner and John Silverman, one of the election inspectors. Continuing, the witness said:

"Salter handed us a number of ballots folded and sealed and told us they were to go in the box as soon as we got to the polling place. On our arrival there Silverman and Cook unlocked the boxes and we put the ballots in. There were about 200 I judge.'

Kirkland then said that he acted as minority inspector under the name of Clarence McCabe, the regular inspector, and that Cook impersonated E. E. Rankin, the judge of election. During the afternoon, witness asserted, 15 additional votes were marked by Cook and Silverman and placed in the box. The last 24 voters were handed specimen ballots which witness thought were destroyed after the polls closed. He said 124 votes were actually cast and that the number returned was "330 or thereabouts."

Kirkland said he acted in the matter at the instigation of R. M. Johnson, a newspaper reporter. He was paid $15 for his work at the polls by Lieutenant

Rodgers he said. William Hamilton, the judge of election, testified that he was unable to officiate owing to illness and to the fact that in order to do so he would have to resign his position as laborer in the postoffice.

The clerk of the hotel at which the Washington men stopped Monday night said the bill was paid by a prominent local Republican potitician.

R. M. Johnson, a newspaper reporter testified that he was in Washington last Sunday. He saw Kirkland there and on that day, and also on the train enroute to this city the following day.

Counsel for the prosecution announced that in view of the evidence he would ask for warrants for several others who had been implicated and that he would demand the extradition of Lieutenant Rodgers.

Fusionists Celebrate Their Victory of Tuesday in Nebraska.

LINCOLN, Neb., Nov. 11.-Fusionists of Lincoln, with delegations from nearby towns, celebrated their victory of last Tuesday in a ratification at the State capitol grounds. A parade through the business streets preceded the speechmaking.

Mr. Bryan's address was brief, and one of congratulation rather than a summary of election results and their meaning, as was expected. National issues were hardly referred to. Gov-ernor Poynter, ex-Governor Holcomb and other state officers spoke, each lauding Colonel Bryan and giving him credit for the victory.

"State Chairman A. W. Young of the Democratic campaign committee is at Barbourville, seeking to have the entire vote of Knox county thrown out. It is believed Taylor's majority will be considerably reduced, if the county is not thrown out entirely.

"No changes have been made by the canvassing board of Laurel county so far. Taylor's majority will remain 931, though the Democrats will file affidavits with the state election board at Frankfort next Tuesday asking that three precincts be thrown out, which will reduce it.'

The Times also had a message from Bardstown, Ky., saying in part: "A serious technical error in the vote may increase Goebel's Nelson county plurality to 1,886.

NOT A TIME FOR THE DEAL.

New York Banker Doubtful if the Carnegie Combine Can Now Be Carried Through.

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—Respecting the report that negotiations are under way for a great consolidation of steel interests to include the Carnegie company, American Steel and Wire company and the National Steel company, a banker who was interested in the attempt made last spring to effect a combination, said:

"I have heard nothing of the plan. Were such a venture in contemplation I think I should know of it. The men behind the properties are alive to the present codition of affairs and if they could not swing the combination last spring, when the situation was more favorable than it is today, it seems scarcely probable that they would at-tempt it at this time. New York is in a more favorable situation than any other money market of the world, and with normal conditions abroad we should probably be receiving gold im ports at this time. But we are in no condition to launch further enterprises just now since the industrial combinations of a few months ago are still giving us all we can do to digest."

Buller May Not Get Started Before Christmas.

SIEGE TRAINS NOT YET READY.

Believed In Some Quarters the British Do Not Reply to the Boer Artillery, to Husband Their Ammunition - Boers Plant More Guns.

LONDON, Nov. 11.-It is said that General Buller never expected to commence the campaign in South Africa before Christmas, and it now looks as though this will be the case. Certainly no artillery can reach Durbin before Nov. 14, and, without additional guns, an advance from Estcourt would be impossible. No doubt, as Lord Salisbury said in a recent speech, England will "muddle through it," and yet another illustration of muddling has become apparent in the fact that gunnery instructors have only just arrived at Woolwich arsenal for instructions in siege-train duties. Although hurried preparations are being made to prepare the siege trains, the fact that the men are at Devenport and the guns at Woolwich seems to show that the idea of the siege train was quite an afterthought.

The Morning Post says: "What will come of such muddling, if we ever come to fighting a foe able to turn to advantage? some radical reforms are still needed in our mobilization arrangements.'

The statement from Ladysmith that the British guns do not reply to the Boer artillery because the concrete beds for the guns have not yet hardened is interpreted in some quarters to mean simply that the British are husbanding their ammunition, as the Boer fire is only a trick to get the British to waste shells.

Among the few items that have arrived from the Cape is one saying that the Boers are planting more guns in the hills surrounding Ladysmith. All the correspondents in the beleaguered town are safe and anxious to reopen communication.

A gentleman who visited Nicholson's Nek after the engagement counted 25 in killed and 70 wounded.

The latest advices from Kimberley, dated Nov. 2, say that all was well there then. An explosion had been heard and the supposition was that the Boers had blown up the railway culvert south of Dronneld.

LONDON, Nov. 11.—The British war office received from General Buller the following dispatch:

"Cape Town, Thursday evening, Nov. 9.-Have received by pigeon post from General White today the following:

"The bombardment at long range by heavy guns continues daily. A few casualties are occurring, but no serious harm is being done.

"The Boers sent in today a number of refugees from the Transvaal under a flag of truth. A flag of truce from Ladysmith met them outside the pickets. When the party separated the Boer guns fired on it before it reached our

"The entrenchments are daily growing strong and the supply of provisions is ample.'

The war office issued the following: "From Buller, Cape Town, 12:40 p. m., by message from Buluwayo dated Nov 3.—A small convoy and escort under Spreckley of Phmer's force was attacked by Boers Nov. 2. Six men missing and lost convoy."

The war office also issued the following: "A report having appeared in the South African papers that our artillery fired on the Geneva flag General Buller telegraphs the following account of the incident given The Standard and Diggers News by the Rev. Mr. Martens, a Dutch clergyman with the Boers: 'Directly after the first cannon shot the English thought our men were at the railway station and fired there. They were not, but one of the shots went through an ambulance. As soon as they found their mistake they ceased firing. "The ambulance, in accordance with the usages, should have been three miles from the field of battle, so the ambulance cannot claim the English broke the usages of civilized warfare, but I do not think the English would have fired on them had they known this. It was unintentional.'

Many girls and women find it necessary to earn their own living in various kinds of employment. Their work is often so hard and confir ing that the health breaks down. Their delicate constitutions are unfitted for tiresome tasks. Weakness nearly always makes its appearance in the peculiarly delicate womanly organs. ### KNOTTY LABOR QUESTION.

The Right of an Employer to Work With His Men.

A novel question was recently brought up before a labor union in this city, says the New York Tribune. which the aforesaid union has found exceedingly difficult to answer satisfactorily. The question was, "Does an employer have the right to don a workingman's garb and labor along with his employees?"

It appears that a contractor known as John Arlt, feeling the need of a little exercise, decided to show his employees how to lay brick on a row of buildings which he was erecting on the east side. Mr. Arlt was once a brick layer himself, and he wanted to demonstrate to his men that he could give points to them in the art of bricklaying. The employees took it as a good joke, and they applauded his action. In fact, they were rather proud that they were working for a man who didn't think it beneath him to put on overalls and blouse and labor with them the same as any other journey-

Everything went well for a time. Mr. Arlt was not only getting plenty of exercise, but his good example of industry had such an effect on his men that the walls of the building went up like magic. Just then, however, the walking delegate appeared on the scene and demanded to see Mr. Arit's union card. The latter, who is a German, was much surprised at the request, and he told the delegate so.

"Don't I employ union men?" he inquired of the delegate. "Don't I pay them der union vages? You find no scabs mit my men, do you? Don't I der exercise get if I der vork vat I vant to do, do it? You vas off mit your base, don't it?"

The delegate insisted that it did not matter whether the contractor employed union men; he did not have a card himself, so consequently he could not be permitted to work with union men even if they were his own employees.

Finally it was resolved to lay the matter before Bricklayers' union, No. 11, and a meeting was held at which the subject was debated from all sides. Nothing could be found in the constitution of the union bearing in any way on the subject, and the meeting could reach no decision as to the proper course to pursue. The matter was still unsettled yesterday, and it bids fair to prove a lively question of debate among the labor unions for weeks to come. In the meantime Mr. Arlt continues to lay brick "the way his father did," much to his own satisfaction and the amusement of his employees.

THE LOCUST PEST.

Interesting Investigations by an Agricultural Department Expert.

Every year since the invasion of certain western states, particularly Kansas and Colorado, by the Rocky mountain locust, or western grasshopper, in the years 1874 and 1876 the division of entomology of the United States department of agriculture has sent an agent into the field in the western states each summer to study grasshopper conditions for the purpose of enabling the department to predict, if possible, a future invasion and to warn farmers well in advance. This annual trip for the present year has just been completed, and the special agent, Mr. W. D. Hunter, has just reported to Dr. Howard, the entomologist of the

This year's investigations have been of special interest on account of a slight outbreak of the locust in North Dakota and on account of an unusual abundance of local nonmigratory species in different western states. Moreover, a rather large swarm was seen in flight in early August, the exact settling point of which it is now difficult to approximate.

Earlier in the summer a statement was published in certain western newspapers to the effect that it was considered by entomologists that the Turtle mountain region in North Dakota and Montana probably was a permanent breeding ground of the destructive migratory grasshopper, a statement which occasioned much alarm and indignation on the part of railroads and other landowners in that part of the state. This region, therefore, was carefully traversed and scrutinized by Mr. Hunter, who reports that the migratory grasshopper does not breed perma-Watson & Sloan. There is growing up in this country an army of stalwart and courageous men, backed by noble-hearted Christian women, wives, mothers, sisters and sweethearts of these self same stalwarts. who have determined that the un-American saloon shall cease to exist in this nation, so blessed by Almighty God. Year by year these stalwarts are casting their votes in a manner which is causing the leaders of the liquor traffic to have chills permeate the very center of their spinal columns, and almost give heart failure to the politicians who have based their hopes of success upon the liquor vote. We have had men in this district who have accepted the influence and money of the liquor league, and voted in direct opposition to the wishes of their constituents, and directly in opposition to solemn pledges made by them before they were elected to office; and these same recreants have been relegated to political oblivion, despised by all good men and women and even held in contempt by the whisky bosses who bought them. ### WE PRINT THE TRUTH.

The News Review published exclusively on Thursday evening the news, of general public interest, that the manufacturers had decided to increase the price of ware five per cent. Friday evening the lower region sheet, finding itself scooped completely on one of the most important news items of the year by the superior newsgathering ability and hustle of the reportorial staff of this paper, came out with a roorback that the potters had not raised prices and said: "William Cartwright, of the Cart wright Pottery Co, said Friday morning that the announcement that the manufacturers had increased the selling price of ware five per cent was an error. The manufacturers are working on a plan to increase the selling price of ware, but final action has not yet been taken."

Mr. Cartwright informed the News REVIEW last evening that he had simply told the lower region sheet's reporter that he "had nothing to say." #### The Mint Melting Pot.

"Yes, we recive lots of things that we hate to see go into the melting pot," said an old mint attache. "Folks In financial stress bring Uncle Sam all manner of heirlooms which are bought over the counter for their naked weight in gold or silver bullion. Art or antiquity don't count at the mint, and a candelabra by Benvenuto Cellini himself wouldn't bring more than a lump of raw metal fresh from the smelter. We get plate of every description, old watch cases, rings, chains, snuff boxes, spectacle frames and jewelry mounts without number.

"In this section of the south there are several speculators who make a business of traveling through the rural districts and buying up all the old gold and silver they can find. They are experts in judging of the fineness of metal, and they pay as little as they can, so there must be a big profit in the trade. As a rule, the stuff they bring us and that finds its way here through other channels is old and broken and uninteresting, but now and then something of rare artistic value turns up in the lot, and we would be only too glad to take it out and make good the coin value, but the law forbids.

"That, by the way, is no doubt the very reason why we occasionally get such articles. People who are poor and proud would rather have the identity of their relics lost forever in the melting pot than run the risk of exposing their straits by leaving them with the pawnbrokers."-New Orleans Times-Democrat.

A Good Place to Leave.

"The Indians of Mexico," says a correspondent of Forest and Stream, "know nothing of the laws of contagion. They display an apathy toward certain loathsome diseases which surprises a foreigner.

"In a recent hunting trip in the Sierra of Pueblo our party of eight was descending toward Zacapoaxtla. We rode leisurely, for the trail was narrow and hemmed in by Indian huts. At the door of one of these stood a woman and a little girl. We stopped to inquire the way, when the following conversation took place:

"'Good morning, senora.'

- "'A very good morning, at your orders, senor.
- 'This is the road to Zacapoaxtla, is it not?
- "'You are quite right, senor."
- "'And is it very far?"
- "'On the contrary, it is a very little ways.
- "'A thousand thanks for your kindness, senora.
- "There is nothing for which to offer
- "'Is the little girl sick, senora?"
- "'She is a little sick, senor.' "'What is the matter with her?"
- "'She has the smallpox, senor.'
- "'Ah, good day, senora!"

Hard to Get Out.

An English woman who has been traveling in Russia seems to have found it easier to get in than to get out of the czar's country. She sent her passport to the authorities before starting in order to have it vised and then blithely made for the frontier.

Arriving there, she was immediately detained and taken before the powers that not only be, but also do, at the Russian frontier. Here she was informed that her passport did not permit her to leave the country and that she would be obliged to make herself comfortable while the police found out all she had done while in the country.

the thought of how she would tell her friends about it when she got home. But when she found that she had to pay not only for her room, her meals, service and all that sort of thing, but also for long telegrams which the authorities were exchanging in regard to month, to suit the convenience of her case, her pleasure dwindled as rapidly as her funds did.

She finally got off, however, but without receiving any apology or any reimbursement.-New York Sun.

A WONDERFUL HISTORY

Our Islands and Their People.

AS SEEN WITH CAMERA AND

Pencil. Introduced by Major General Joseph Wheeler. A History Which Should be in Every Family, on Every Student's

This is one of the most complete histories of the new possessions of Uncle Samuel that the mind can well conceive

The text matter of this work embraces a full and complete history of the islands and the various races of people who have inhabited them, the climate, products, resources, etc.

The work also embraces over 1,200 exquisite original photographs, secured by the artist at a great danger to himself and at a very heavy outlay of money by his employers. sketches are genuinely beautiful and will please the eye and delight the heart of every one who possesses a love for the beautiful in nature.

Think of it, readers of the News RE-VIEW, a number of the battle scenes represented in this history were taken by the daring artist in the midst of a hot conflict, with bullets flying all around and about him.

The scope of the work includes Cuba. Porto Rico, the beautiful Isle of Pines, the Hawaiian Islands, the Philippine and Sulu Archipelagoes.

The illustrations and descriptions cover an infinite variety of the most intensely interesting subjects, including the people and their homes and home life, noted places, the marvelously beautiful scenery of the tropics, historic localities, famous battle grounds, celebrated fortifications, public buildings, cathedrals and special representations of exquisite landscape views.

Of deep interest at the present time will be the description of the inhabitants of the Philippine and Sulu Archipelagoes, not only of the natives in and around Manila and the surrounding cities, towns and villages, but also of the wild and savage tribes inhabiting the mountain and lake regions and the small islands to the south, known as the Sulu group. Heretofore these people have been as little known as if they dwelt upon another planet. By means the current rate of production prom of the camera and pencil, these strange ises an aggregate of $100,000,000. lands have been transferred to the printed page, showing land and inhabitants, together with their peculiar surroundings and the wonderful possibilities for future development.

Lincoln and the Hair Restorer,

Here is a story of President Lincoln from the late Judge Carter, who was a member of congress from Cleveland during the war and one of Mr. Lincoln's most intimate friends. It relates to a Quaker philanthropist from Philadelphia who did not have a hair on his head, but took a great interest in public affairs and was constantly calling at the White House in behalf of somebody or other who happened to be in trouble and took up a great deal of Mr. Lincoln's time. The president treated him with great courtesy. although his patience was frequently tried. One day when the philanthropist was particularly verbose and persistent and refused to depart, although he knew that important delegations were waiting, Mr. Lincoln suddenly rose, walked over to a wardrobe in the corner of the cabinet chamber and took a bottle from a shelf. Handing it to his visitor, he remarked:

"Did you ever use this stuff on your head?"

"No, sir; I never did."

"Well," remarked Mr. Lincoln, "I advise you to try it, and if at first you don't succeed, keep it up. They say it's a good thing to make the hair grow, Take this bottle with you and come back in six months and tell me how it works."

The astonished philanthropist covered his polished pare with his broad brimmed hat and left the room, while Judge Carter, coming in with the next delegation, found the president over in the corner doubled up with laughter at the success of his strategy, and be fore he could proceed to business the story had to be told.-Chicago Record.

And Then Wanted to Trade Back but Meplevin Suit Followed and Harvey Won burg. Out-The Jury Thought Each Party Should Stand a Portion of the Costs.

A horse case was aired yesterday afternoon in the court of Squire Hill and each member of the jury that heard the testimony now think they are experts on the subject of horses.

Last Saturday Frank Harvey and Joe horses and they did so. After Harvey had more fully sized up his new horse he decided that he had got decidedly the worst of the trade, and he hunted up McMillan and wanted to trade back. but McMillan couldn't see it that way. They discussed the matter for a time and then Harvey went to the office of Justice Hill and replevined the animal from McMillan. The case came up for hearing yesterday afternoon and the jury decided that the trade was off and both men should get their original horses. They recommended that the costs of the action be assessed against both parties but as the law don't provide for such cases it is probable Mc-Millan will have the whole thing to pay.

AWESOME TREES.

How the Giants of the Yosemite Impressed a Traveler.

We made a side trip to the big trees of the Mariposa group, which are about one hour's ride from the hotel, says a correspondent. If the smallest of these trees could be planted anywhere in Pennsylvania, the railroads would run excursion trains to it and make money. The trees in this grove are so large that it takes a good while to fully appreciate the facts about the size of the biggest of them. The "Grizzly Giant" is 34 feet through at the base and over 300 feet high. This ton, of Alliance, are visiting her parents tree would overtop the spires on the Pittsburg cathedral by about 100 feet. The trunk of this tree is 100 feet clear to the first limb, which is 20 feet in circumference. Many other trees here are nearly as large as this one. and there are 400 in the grove.

Through it several tunnels have been cut, and a four horse stage can go through these tunnels on the run and never graze a hub. You get an approach to an adequate idea of their size by walking off a hundred yards or so while the stage is standing at the foot of a tree and glancing from top to bottom, keeping the stage in mind as a means of comparison. The stage and horses look like the little tin outfit that Santa Clause brought you when you were a good little boy.

These trees are no longer to be called the largest in the world, however. A species of eucalyptus has been found in Australia as large or larger. Emerson warns us against the use of the superlative, but when you are in this region of the globe you can't get along without a liberal use of it. He himself says of Yosemite, "It is the only spot I have ever found that came up to the brag." And as I stood in the big tree grove I remembered that some one called Emerson himself "the Sequoia of the human race."-Pittsburg Dis-

An Accommodating Ear.

Philadelphians have become accustomed to the Chinaman who carries his nickel for carfare in his ear, but of the great noble trained under the it remained for an enterprising representative of The Record to discover a man who used the soft lobe of his ear for a cotton wad.

Passengers on a street car in the Quaker City the other day were attracted to a well dressed man of middle age because of something peculiar they noticed about his right ear. It seemed to those who looked that the ear was minus a lobe. Suddenly there was a flop, and the interested passengers then noticed that the ear was all right, with the lobe in the place where it ought to be.

By the time the passengers had gone deep into wonder over the strange sight the man raised his hand and pushed the lobe into the opening of the ear, placing the ear in the condition it was before the flop. Noticing that the man who sat next to him stared in an inquiring way at him, the man with the magic ear said that the lobe was his earache cure.

He was a great sufferer from the ache, he said, and formerly used cotton to shut the wind out of his ear. One day he was without cotton and found that he could shove the lobe into the opening. It did not only keep the wind out, but the pain disappeared quicker, and since then he has always put the lower part of his ear into use when the earache has come on.

Wendell Phillips and Blaine.

When Wendell Phillips was last in Washington, he was for a few minutes on the floor of the United States senate, surrounded by a group of senators, among whom was Senator James G. Blaine, always a favorite with Mr. Phillips. It so happened that a few weeks before this time Mr. Blaine, in presenting to congress the statue of Governor King, first governor of Maine, to be placed in the rotunda of the capitol, had commented severely on the loyalty of Massachusetts, and especially the Federalist party, during the war with Great Britain in 1812.

Of this party the father of Wendell Phillips, John Phillips, was a conspicuous member. When Blaine's speech was made Dawes and Hoar were senators from Massachusetts, and they both essayed some sort of an impromptu reply thereto, but did themselves little credit in parrying the thrusts of Blaine's glittering rapier.

So, when Wendell Phillips met Blaine on this occasion, he said to him laughingly, "I wish I had been a member of this body for about an hour the other day when you made that speech attacking the Massachusetts Federalists."

"Ah," said Mr. Blaine with that ready wit which never deserted him. "if you had been here I shouldn't have made that speech!"-Harper's Maga-

Topic For the Week Beginning Nov. 12-Comment by Rev. S. H. Doyle, Topic.-The Living Bread.-John vi, 26-35.

Christ was often wont to use types and figures to illustrate His character and His work. This was particularly the case when men misunderstood or failed to understand Him and His mission. To Thomas, who had failed to grasp Christ's mission, He illustrated it by saying, "I am the way." To those who falsely thought that the blessings He was to bring men temporal and carnal He here describes Himself as the true Bread, the living Bread from heaven. He was not to feed the body by multiplying loaves and fishes, but was to satisfy the longings of the soul by Himself. What He means by Himself as the Bread of life is simply that as bread food is necessary to the physical life and is able to satisfy and sustain the physical life, so He is necessary to the life of the soul, able to satisfy its cravings and able to sustain it forever. Note-

1. The philosophy of bread in its relation to life. That bread sustains life is indisputable. The man who ceases to eat soon ceases to live. But how bread sustains the life cannot be explained. We may follow the food in its changes in the human system, but just when or just how the food we eat becomes our life no scientist can explain. We know the fact, but the philosophy of it is unknown. Nor can we tell how Christ satisfies and sustains the life of the soul. This fact has led many to refuse to accept Christ. But such a course is as foolish as it would be for one to refuse to eat food because he does not know how the food becomes his life. We know that Christ does sustain spiritual life. Without Him the soul languishes and dies. How He becomes our Bread of life we need not worry about, so long as we know that He does satisfy all our spiritual longings.

2. Bread in its application to life. 1. Bread to sustain life must be eat en. We must actually partake of food before it can become our life. The mere possession of the richest abundance of food will not keep us alive unless we partake of the food. The 5,000 had to actually eat of the loaves and fishes before they were satisfied and filled. So Christ must be actually partaken of before he can sustain the spiritual life within us. It is not enough that God has provided the living Bread. We must partake of it, we must actually accept Christ and feed upon Him by faith. 2. Bread to sustain life must be eaten constantly. The craving once satisfied, soon returns and must be sat isfied again. So we must be in constant communion with Christ, if he is to sustain our spiritual lives. A Sabbath communion with Christ, a quarterly communion with Christ will not suffice -daily hourly momentarily we should be in close touch and communion with Christ, the living Bread. Let us keep in constant communion with Christ by prayer, by daily study of His word and by a constant indwelling of the Holy Ghost, that He may be the Bread of Life to our souls.

The Cheerful Face.

Next to the sunlight of heaven is the cheerful face. There is no mistaking it. The bright eye, the unclouded brow. the sunny smile, all tell of that which dwells within. Who has not felt its electrifying influence? One glance at this face lifts us out of the mists and shadows into the beautiful realms of hope. One cheerful face in the household will keep everything warm 'and light within. It may be a very plain face, but there is something in it we feel, but cannot express, and its cheery smile sends the blood dancing through the veins for very joy. There is a word of blessed magic in the plain, cheerful face, and we would not exchange it for all the soulless beauty that ever graced the fairest form on earth. -St. Xavier's Monthly.

Churches In Summer.

The time is rapidly coming when American Protestants will have to call a halt to the custom of closing town churches in the summer. The cessation of church work in the summer is accountable for a very large proportion of the neglect of the Sabbath among Christian people. TAGALS FULL OF FIGHT.

Officers of a Sugar Ship Tell of Affairs in the Philippines.

According to the first and second officers of the Holyrood, a British vessel just arrived in New York from the Philippines with 10,000 mats of raw sugar, says the Tribune, the natives of Iloilo are glad that the Americans in stead of the Spaniards are now occupying the Philippines. Captain Miller of the Holyrood has been ashore most of the time since his vessel arrived on Saturday, and the best the reporter could do was to talk with the first and second officers, Fleming and Carring

"The Filipinos at Iloilo who loaded our sugar got about $1.50 in Mexican money for 12 hours' work," said Fleming. "That is equal to about 75 cents in gold. They are good workers, those natives, although very stupid. Their work as stevedores makes them extremely muscular. They are big fellows too. They are satisfied with the control of Iloilo by the United States, because they are getting pretty nearly double the wages they received three years ago, and the scale is still going up. We left Iloilo for the Suez canal about June 1. On May 1 we were at Manila. That was the anniversary of Admiral Dewey's naval victory and the sailors had a great day of it. Many of the prominent officers of the army and navy were present. All the boats in the harbor were covered with flags and every one had a day off."

"Where do the Tagals get their ammunition?" the reporter asked Carrington, the second officer.

"That's what Otis and Dewey want to know," said Carrington. "They seem to have money and friends among the big powers. One of these days it will all come out that some rich gang of filibusters is supplying Aguinaldo with ammunition, and when that comes, look out for breakers. They're even getting quick firing guns from some-

"What about peace between the natives and the Americans?"

"There won't be any right away," said Carrington. "The natives are savages. I wouldn't like to trust them any farther than I could see them. The better classes like the idea of belonging to the United States, but the more stupid know just enough to fight. I suppose this country will lick them out after awhile, but it will be a long time, there are so many of them."

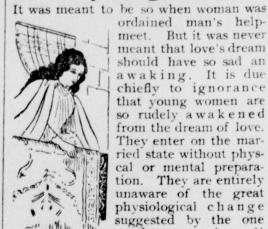

Bohemians May Go to Buenos Ayres.

Many of the Bohemians living in this country, says a Chicago dispatch, are considering plans of emigrating to South America. Jose Faber of Buenos Ayres is in Chicago on his way to confer with Dr. Martin Garcia Merou, minister of the Argentine Republic at Washington, relative to the inducements offered to Bohemians to leave this country and take up their abode in the southern parts of the Argentine Republic. Mr. Faber has chosen three Bohemian newspaper men and a priest, who will explore the promised land at the expense of the Argentine Republic, with a view of inducing their countrymen to leave the United States if better opportunities are offered. If the reports of this commission are in favor of emigration, the Argentina government, according to the statement of Mr. Faber, will offer each settler 500 acres of land in the state of Chubut for a small consideration, with the understanding, however, that this tract shall be converted into farming land.

Swiss Locomotive and Car Shops.

Angus Sinclair, editor of Locomotive Engineering, has received particulars from Switzerland about a syndicate of American and European capitalists having been formed to build large works in Switzerland for constructing railway machinery. The annual capacity of the works will be 600 locomotives, 1,000 steam railway passenger cars, 1,000 electric railway cars and 10,000 switches and signals, with electrical motive power. The directors are: G. Burnham of the Baldwin Locomotive works, Philadelphia, president; S. G. Brill of Brill & Co., Philadelphia, vice president; W. Siemens of Siemens & Halske, Berlin, secretary; De Neuflize, director of the Paris, Lyons and Mediterranean railway, treasurer, and Cernielle Barbey. general manager of the Yverdan and ordained man's helpmeet. But it was never meant that love's dream should have so sad an awaking. It is due chiefly to ignorance that young women are so rudely awakened from the dream of love. They enter on the married state without physcal or mental preparation. They are entirely unaware of the great physiological change suggested by the one word " marriage.

Every young woman should be prepared for that change. There should be no neglect of irregularities. The perfect health of the peculiarly womanly organs should be the daily care. Thousands of women who entered in marriage unprepared, and passed from irregularities to debilitating drains, inflammation, ulceration and female weakness, have been altogether and absolutely cured by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. This great medicine is not a cure-all, but a specific for the chronic diseases peculiar to women. It does one thing perfectly; it makes weak women strong and sick women well.

"For two years I had been a sufferer from chronic diseases and female weakness," writes Mrs. Allen A. Bobson, of 1125 Rodman Street, Philadelphia, Pa. "I had two doctors, who only relieved me for a time. My niece advised me to take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. I did, and have been highly benefited. ### FPWORTH LEAGUE.

Topic For the Week Beginning Nov. 12. "The Living Bread"-Text, John vi, 24-35.

"The bread of God is He which cometh down from heaven and giveth life unto the world.

Hunger and thirst are the signals of bodily need and are most imperious in their demands. Continually the wants must be supplied. Great range in choice of foods is possible, but none can do without food of some kind." Yet this is not the most urgent demand of human nature. It is a law of our make up from which escape is impossible that "man shall not live by bread alone, but by every word which proceedeth out of the mouth of God.

Starvation with all its attendant miseries and horrors is not the most dreadful fate which can overtake mankind. The deepest pain possible is soul hunger and destitution of spirit. Men can live long on coarsest fare and scanty rations. Men will keep long and voluntary fasts in the midst of plenty when some special gain can be thereby attained. Soul starvation none willingly endures. Better death than this. Instinctively all shrink from the unutterable horror of a hopeless future of comfortless existence.

To satisfy the heart craving for happiness in existence the strangest fancies and wildest delusions have been cherished when the true and rational have been lost out of the life.

That which attracts in Jesus Christ is the deep wonder of His matchless insight into the morally right and true. He speaks, and we are surprised at the marvelous simplicity of His statements. Life seems wondrously luminous, and what before was impenetrably dark becomes clear. We see all so openly and wonder that, we ever were perplexed. The soul sees where before it helplessly groped. We know when before we could only doubt and question and surmise

The wonder of all ages is Jesus of Nazareth. Search all centuries and every land, and you will find no other one like Him. He makes no guesses, hazards no theories and gives no cause of argument. He just announces facts, and we test and find them true. We trust ourselves to His directions and find peace. We obey His commands and are satis fied in soul.

All other expedients fail to give settled assurance to our natures. The book of Ecclesiastes gives us the picture of a man seeking soul fullness. He tries all worldly possibilities and finds in them only starvation of moral impulses and powers. Jesus feeds every energy for good and fills to utmost satisfaction every appetency for happiness and right. Well does He say:

"I am the bread of life."

He is the miracle of manhood, the sign of the ages, the wonder of this world, the prophecy of a future existence divinely human.

The Last Great Convention.

In many points the Epworth League convention last July in Indianapolis was the greatest gathering of Methodists ever held. It is likely so to remain for a long time to come. Much good was accomplished without doubt, but the day of great conventions like this has probably passed. The Christian Endeavor gathering at Detroit last summer demonstrated the same fact. The crest of the wave has passed.

Flowers Under Artificial Light.

Nearly all flowers in which there is a notable proportion of blue are unattractive when seen under artificial light. Hence purple and lilac flowers do not usually look well at night, though there are exceptions owing to the intensity of the red in some purples, which comes out well at night and causes them to appear as crimsons. Yellows invariably lose brilliancy, and pale yellows become bad whites under gaslights, but reds and crimsons and all shades of pink and the Methodist Episcopal church of the white retain their beauty, and, as a United States. The real power rests in rule, green leaves are pleasing under

THE RISE IN PRICES.

Dun's Review Said It Was a Noteworthy Feature-Wheat Not Strong, Corn Advanced.

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.-R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade issued today said in part:

The most noteworthy feature of the time is the rise in prices. Cotton rose on Wednesday to 7.81 cents with much excitement, putting the price 21/2 cents higher than it was a year ago, and yet it was still higher in September, 1897. Wool has risen relatively more, about 10 per cent in two weeks, and the average of 100 quotations by Coats Bros., is higher than it has been at any other time since May, 1893. Pig iron has risen further, $25 being quoted for anthracite No. 1, the highest price since January, 1883. But hines are at the highest since January, 1873, having risen all the year with very little reaction. Prices of products have not correspondingly advanced.

The iron industry, which has led all years in the advance, now leads the way toward a readjustment of values. While contracts for pig cover the entire produts of the most important districts for six to nine months in advance, many of the consuming works in some lines approach the end of their orders and have new competition to meet, so that sheets have fallen $4 per ton at Pittsburg and $9 from the nighest point in September, and plates are $6 lower there and $3 at Philadelphia. At the same time bars are $1 per ton higher, both at Philadelphia and Pittsburg, the demand being enormous, and at Chicago very heavy contracts have been made for car and implement works. A bridge combination is thought likely to effect future business in structural shapes, which continues large for the season.

Wheat has not been very active nor strong. Exports are also smaller. The decrease in foreign demand may be ascribed in part to heavy previous exports, but pernaps still more to the great movement of corn. Corn advanced about as much as wheat fell,

IF WOOD GOVERNS CUBA.

Ludlow Points Out That Though Civil Governor, He Would Have Military Power.

New York, Nov. 11.—Brigadier General William Ludlow, military governor of Havana, ___ reading the special dispatches from Washington, describing the impending change in the goverament of Cuba, said in part:

"Assuming that the administration really proposes a change substantially as set forth does not surprise me. The change as outlined would not, however, in my judgment, be so radical as might at first be thought. General Brooke is now a civil governor as well as a military governor. General Wood, if he should be made the head of the governmeni in Cuba, would be, as I understand the scheme, denominated civil governor, but he would not be divested either of his military rank or of military authority and power. A military force would remain in the island and would be necessary-or at least almost certainly-subject to the supreme head, the civil governor. It has been our constant aim and practice to subordinate the military to the civil as much as possible.

"Hence, I should not regard the change stated to be proposed as a long step toward the establishment of a purely native government."
